

“Flying Between Life and Death”

A Pilot's Perspective

In remote villages in third-world countries with no medical care, small airplanes and the bush pilots who fly them are often the only thing standing—flying—between life and death.

Come share the images and stories of how the New England aviation community is making a difference!

Saturday, February 21, 2009
3:00 pm
Nashua Airport—Midfield Cafe

Saturday, February 28, 2009
3:00pm
Lawrence Airport—Four star Aviation

Saturday, March 7, 2009
3:00pm
Bedford Airport—Jet Aviation

Sean Donnelly, ATP, CFII — is a local flight instructor and President of Missionary Air Group, a Haverhill, MA based charity that delivers medical services by air in Honduras, Central America and trains pilots for mission aviation organizations working in Africa and around the world.

www.missionaryairgroup.org